

Tatted Pink Anchor

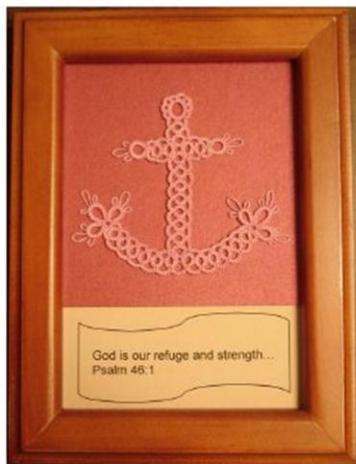

My Tribute to All Our Fallen Friends,
Victims of Breast Cancer.
Sadly, there are too many to name.

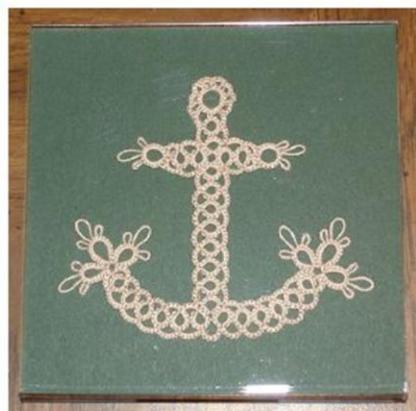

I chose the anchor to symbolize hope, strength, courage, and faith.

Please feel free to share this pattern with anyone and everyone!
It is my gift to anyone who has been affected by breast cancer in any way.

Materials required:

Size 20-30 thread or equivalent
 (Models were made with Olympus Gold Label)
 2 shuttles, wound FULL, CTM
 Crochet hook
 1/4 inch wide picot gauge

Abbreviations and Symbols

=	Very small picot – just large enough for a tiny crochet hook to fit into it.
-	Measured picot – 1/4 inch OPEN measurement.
-	Measured picot – 1/4 inch CLOSED measurement.
+	Join – be sure to read what type of join and where, in parentheses
SLJ	Shuttle Lock Join
S2	Shuttle 2 (or "ball" thread)

Please note that great care must be taken to slide chains stitches VERY close together, before continuing on to the next ring, and especially before making a SLJ. If this is not done, the "hook" of the anchor will not curve symmetrically. Blocking is recommended, but may not be necessary.
